REGULAR MEET OF CITY COUNCIL MONDAY NIGHT

Grant Leave Of Absence To City Treasurer—Transact Other Routine Business

The City Council of Daly City met at the city hall, Monday evening of this week, in regular session, with all members present and Mayor Selmi presiding.

V. Del Sarto applied for a permit to conduct a tavern at 7173 Mission street. Granted unanimously.

Dora Gallagher requested a refund of a portion of a businss license, covering a restaurant she formerly conducted here. After some discussion, Mayor Selmi ruled the policy of the council is to not make such refunds.

Mrs. A. L. Stockton, city treasurer, requested leave of absence and recommended Marjorie Stockton be named as substitute during her absence. A resolution granting this request was passed at the adjourned council meeting on Tuesday evening.

Charles Van Horn sought a license to conduct a restaurant and "on sale" beer establishment at Junipero Serra boulevard and School street. It developed during the discussion that the applicant has conducted his business at the address mentioned while not in possession of a business license. A motion prevailed to refer the matter to the city health officer for investigation and report to the council as to whether health requirements are adequately maintained on the premises.

A request from the fire department for the purchase of 35 feet of 1½ inch hose was granted and the

GIRL SCOUTS LEARN METHOD OF NEWSPAPER

Pay Visit To The Daly City Record Office On Publication Day

Last week Thursday afternoon, eleven Girl Scouts and one Boy Scout, chaperooned by Girl Scout Lieutenant Mrs. L. Lemon, visited our home newspaper office. It was their desire to see The Record in the process of manufacture.

The editor himself acted as instructor, demonstrating each step from the beginning to the finished product.

After viewing the intricate mechanism of the Linotype, one little girl asked "Doesn't this machine need to be oiled?" This remark illustrates the thoughtful interest displayed by the youthful guests. It was indeed a pleasure to their host to talk to the following appreciative listeners:

Girl Scouts—Jennie Giusti, Sophie Sikeotis, Nadine Bledsoe, Rose Siragusa, Agnes Peterson, Alice Forest, Mary Rossoff, Martha Preciado, Doris Echenerria, Joyce Lemon, and Marcia Echeverria.

Boy Scout—Ralph Shino.

ONE GIRL'S REACTION

After visiting The Record on Thursday of last week, Joyce Lemon wrote:

"I liked the Linotype machine best of all. It interested me so much to see how the names came out when the girls gave their names and the operator printed them out straight.

"I also enjoyed watching the boys folding the papers. They did it so fast. Seeing how the papers were addressed to be sent to the subscribers was fun, too."

LIKES LINOTYPE

Martha Preciado of 47 Willits street gives her impressions thus:

"I think the Linotype machine was very interesting, the way it produces the lettering. "The shop as a whole was very interesting."

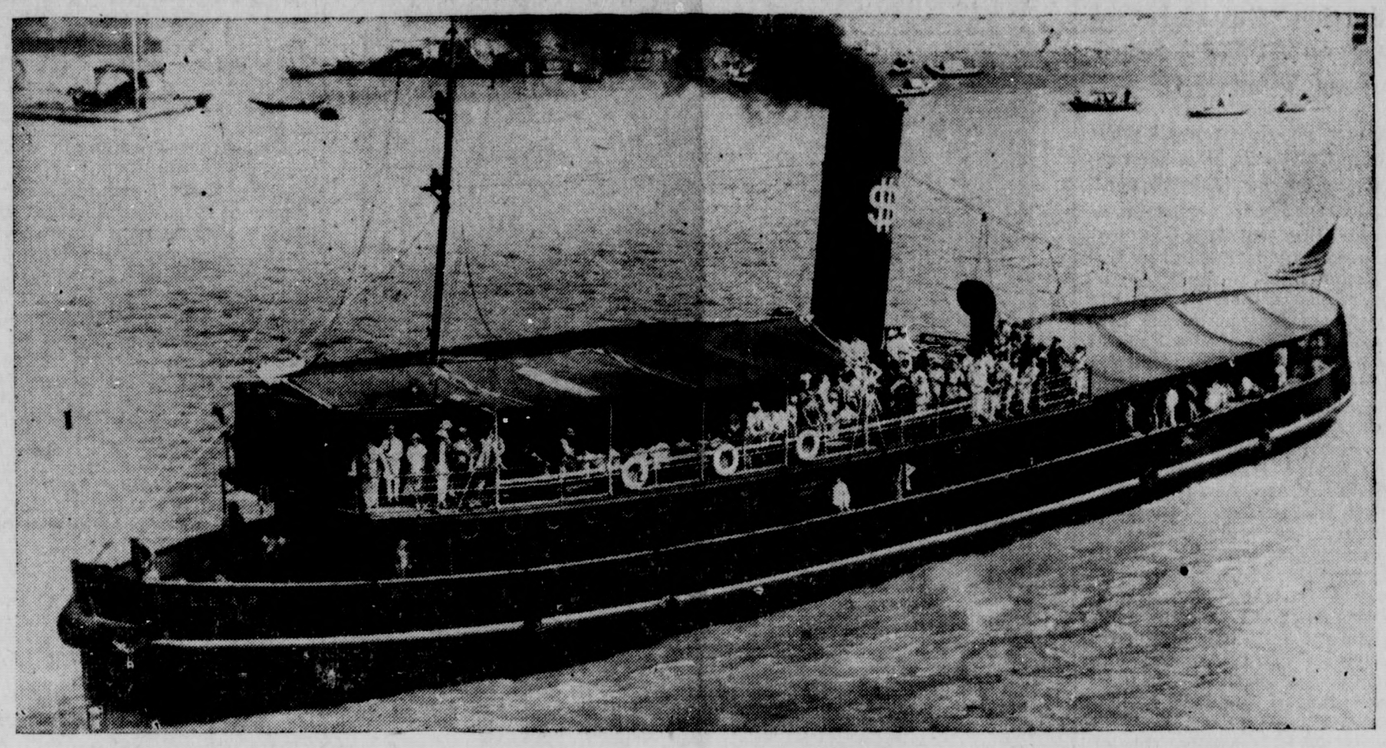
CLARA BOW MAY TRY COMEBACK IN FILMS

It is reported in Hollywood that Clara Bow, exotic redheaded former film star, will essay a comeback.

For several years Miss Bow has been living quietly on a ranch near Searchlight, Nev.

She had been proposed for a part in a sailor picture "He Wanted to Marry," but failed to come to a satisfactory salary agreement.

HAVEN FOR REFUGEES EVACUATING SHANGHAI



To 212 Americans in Shanghai this Dollar Line tender answered their prayers for safety. Closely guarded by the U. S. destroyer Edsall, the tender took the American citizens down the winding Whangpoo River to Woosung, on the Yangtze, where they were transferred to the President Pierce as fighting raged on all sides of the besieged and bomb-battered "Paris of the Orient."

GIRLS MAY HAVE OPPORTUNITY AS MOVIE STARS

Casting Directors Of Picture Studios To Pass Expert Opinion On Applicants

Daly City girls were urged today to contact headquarters of the San Mateo County Floral Fiesta at once for consideration as either a hostess for the publicity committee or as one of the leading ladies in the Fiesta pageant, highlight of the September 23-26 show.

Northern San Mateo County has failed to respond to calls for talent, Fiesta managers reported, and the set rule that all persons given parts as pageant stars or as hostesses must live in the county has suffered from this lack of response.

Visiting all productions of the pageant will be casting directors of major Hollywood Studios. This will give all persons in the cast an opportunity to be viewed by an expert with the chance that their acting, singing or dancing may win for them a test before the motion picture camera.

A. H. Severin, pageant committee head, implored all residents to apply for a part in the pageant, pointing out that "we are still looking for a good looking young woman with a voice for the leading feminine role in the pageant—and she must be a resident of San Mateo County.

Meanwhile, the publicity committee listed two girls from the

PREPARATIONS FOR STATE FAIR NEARING CLOSE

Children's Day To Be Featured By Parade—Movie Monkey To Lead March

Preparations for a history making California State Fair at Sacramento, September 3 to 12, are rapidly drawing to a close.

Final touches being made to the all around Fair program assure among many things an outstanding race meet, an unprecedented attractions schedule and recognition for principal California industries.

One of the half hundred features will be Children's Day, the first day of the exposition, when a grand parade to the grounds will be staged.

For the benefit of the children it has been arranged that Jiggs, the Movie Monkey, a performer on trapeze and stage, will lead the march. Jiggs is one of those "educated monkeys" that can do almost anything that a human can.

Many of the children will be supplied with paper maiche costumes patterned to the likeness of different vegetables. This pageant will be in celebration of Agricultural Day, which also occurs the first day of the fair.

A summary of events at the fair show that approximately 75 statewide organizations are holding meetings at the ten day exposition.

In the farm groups, the Grange and Farm Bureau are holding special meetings. In addition, a special train from Los Angeles and one from Yreka, one carrying 4-H Club girls and boys to the grounds and one bringing a caravan of implement dealers from the east, are scheduled.

Hub of California activity will be at the fair.

Force Of Fifty Men Put On At Hi School

Yesterday, a force of fifty men from the WPA began work on the Jefferson Union High School grounds. The first job begun was the laying of the sewer connecting the high school gymnasium and swimming pool with the city sewer at the southwest corner of the football field.

The next job will be the grading and landscaping of the grounds between the swimming pool and the football field, and also around the tennis courts. The road leading to the football field will also be completed.

Joe Millett, who is inspector on the gymnasium and swimming pool construction unit, will also supervise this project.

All of the labor will be furnished by the WPA of San Mateo County and the expense met by the federal government. The only cost to the high school district will be for the tile needed for the sewers.

ONE HUNDRED FRESHMEN NOW AT HIGH SCHOOL

Six Hundred Pupils Enrolled At Opening Session On Monday

Six hundred and five pupils answered the roll on last Monday morning at the Jefferson Union High School for the opening of the new school year. Of these over one hundred were freshmen who had just graduated from Grammar School and thirty were new students registering in Jefferson for the first time. Of these new students some came from places as far away as Utah and Nebraska, while a large proportion were students whose families had moved to the Jefferson Union High School District from San Francisco and other cities in California.

Additional enrollment was made on each of the days following, by students whose families were late in returning from their vacations in the country.

Many of the classes, as usual, were filled to overflowing. Seven classes were needed to accommodate the number enrolled in biology. Chemistry required an additional class, as did general mathematics. The enrollment in auto mechanics was double the number that could be accommodated, and students had to place their names on a waiting list for future admission. United States history required four classes, and World history three. In typewriting, eight classes were needed, and in almost all of these every machine was taken. Only in one or two of the advanced classes is there a va-

NEWSPAPER MEN PREPARE PLAY FOR THE STAGE

Current Federal Theater Production Considered Best Seen At Local House For Some Time

Newspaper people from all parts of Northern California have been attracted to the current play "Power," at the Alcazar Theater, more than to any other Federal Theaters production, according to the Public Relations Department of the Project.

"Power" was prepared for the stage by newspaper men of the Living Newspaper unit of the Federal Theater in New York. Its nineteen fast moving scenes were written with the same punch that is given a last minute news bulletin that hits Page 1. Being a Living Newspaper play, the drama is presented in quick flashes of spot news. The action starts just before the climax lives through the peak, shows immediate result and ceases, to be followed in quick succession by climax after climax, the essence of each episode expressed in a few moments.

The basis of the Living Newspaper drama is entirely in fact, not fiction. The original conception of this form of drama is that of Mrs. Hallie Flanagan, national director of the Federal Theaters. It is felt by theater critics to be the one dramatic technique which is only in its infancy. The production staff of "Power" holds as important a place as the actors, for there must be perfect syntheses of action, costume, scene, music, light and movement.

This new form of theater has caused wide discussion in San Francisco. It will be followed by the Eugene O'Neill, Pulitzer prize drama, "Beyond The Horizon."

YOUNGSTERS AT HEATHER FARM SHOWING FORM

Master Of Breeding Rancho Enthuses Over Possibilities Of Crop Of Yearlings

Each week end J. W. Marchbank, owner of the Tanforan race track in this thriving town, goes over to his Heather Farm on the continental side of San Francisco Bay to give his blood stock the once over. Right now the "ranch" is extremely active as the breaking of the latest band of yearlings is in progress.

Mr. Marchbank knows all there is to be known about horses. He puts it in this picturesque fashion:

"Why, I was brought up on a horse."

So when he drives to Heather Farm early each Sunday he does more than look over the young ones. He gives specific instructions to the men in charge as to what to do in order to develop a lot of tractable babies filled with ambition to outspeed whatever colt ranges alongside.

It is the custom of the breeder to get out of the hay each morning at five o'clock, winter and summer, and he expects everyone in his employ to do the same thing. Accordingly proceedings at the ranch start early. Owner Marchbank has found by experience it is the best to be finished with the young stock long before the heat of the day and invariably follows the "early bird" idea.

In amplifying his statement that he was brought up on a horse—Marchbank tells of going out on the plains as a boy and "reaming" the fleetest one in a band of wild horses. He was a crack shot, somewhat of the William Tell order apparently. He undoubtedly gets the word "ream" from his Scotch forbears as the word is better known in England and Scotland than in this country.

To hear him tell it one can imagine the art of winging a wild animal of the equine tribe must be only for the best shots in the world. The idea is to "pop" the plunging fellow in the fleshy part of the neck or shoulder. For the bullet to strike a vital spot would of course ruin the whole game. When the animal is wounded superficially the lariat comes into play. Once lassoed the horse is brought into camp by his justifiably proud captor. In a few days the wound is healed and one more wild animal has been not only tamed but transformed into a highly useful saddle horse.

Heather Farm's master has the best yearlings this fall that he has ever bred. Of that he is sure. He is willing to wager all of the twelve will earn brackets as two year olds. As is well known, Marchbank is always willing to take a chance. For example, he'll bet either way, that is, that a particular horse will win or will lose. In fact, he was booking on races in Idaho quite a number of years ago. He was betting horses, especially the favorite, would lose.

"Do you think my old friend, Colonel Bradley, would make his customary offer at even money that a yearling would not win as a two year old after 'sizing up' this lot?" was the poser he put to the listeners last Sunday at the ranch.

No one could answer the question, so the asker did it himself.

"Look at those Xenofols. Did you ever see such size and substance? And whoever heard of a War Cry that couldn't win? The King Heathers need no defender. They win everywhere."

His enthusiasm was contagious. There was not a dissenter to his asseveration that Mr. Marchbank was one breeder Ed Bradley would not take on.

Unlike the previous band in which the sexes were equally divided, there are nine fillies this fall and three colts. It is planned to complete their primary education as racers in time to have them saddled for baby scrambles early in the year.

The Daly City Tanforan Juniors showed to the best advantage of the year, Sunday, in their game against the Sterling Furniture team at the Jefferson High School diamond. In a well played and snappy contest they defeated the visitors by a score of 5 to 2.

The visitors scored two runs in the first inning, and the count remained 2 to 0 until the fifth inning.

In this frame the locals put on a batting rally. Krohn got a terrific drive to left center for three bases. He scored on a single to center by Pastorini.

The score was tied in the seventh on a walk and steal and a hit by Sam Hawley, who had replaced Gregoire at this stage. Hawley stole second and come all the way home on an infield hit by Pastorini.

The first day of school was taken up with registration and the making out of individual programs, followed by short sessions in which class enrollment was completed. On Tuesday, textbooks were distributed, lockers assigned to new students and the regular work of the term was started under way.

Principal James Ferguson reports that at no time have the students of the high school gotten down to work with greater promptness.

At the general assembly on Monday morning the principal called attention to the progress being made in the construction of the gymnasium and swimming pool and reminded the students that special favors would be granted in the use of the swimming pool to students having a perfect record in attendance.

SOLUTION SOUGHT OF "HOT MONEY" PROBLEM

By J. W. MARCHBANK
Pioneer in Frontier Mining Work

After a long study the federal administration may have presented to Congress at the January session bills to control the operations by foreigners in the securities markets of this country. President Roosevelt has never attempted to conceal his conviction that such "hot money" constitutes a menace.

The Treasury Department, the Securities and Exchange Commission and the Federal Reserve Board were the agencies selected by the chief executive almost a year ago to suggest methods of curbing the accumulation of foreign funds in the United States. Many possible methods have been examined and, according to latest advices, two have been selected as having the most merit.

It is proposed to increase the taxes levied on foreign holders of American securities, including a capital gains tax. Further it is said to be planned to shift to the banks the expense of sterilizing gold imports by establishing a special reserve requirement against foreign deposits. It may be pointed out that at present foreigners are exempted from the capital gains tax, but pay a 10 per cent withholding tax on the income from their security investments in the realm of Uncle Sam.

A census of the unemployed has been ordered by Congress. A resolution along that line was one of the last official acts of Hugo L. Black as a United States Senator. President Roosevelt has said he is not certain the census is necessary. He holds the main thing to do is to relieve bad contitions wherever found.

Harry L. Hopkins, Works Progress Administrator, some time ago said: "I favor a thorough census of both the employed and the unemployed, in order to understand more completely the nature of the present unemployment situation."

Chronic critics of President Roosevelt have been calling vociferously for a count of the unemployed in order, they say, to avoid the inevitable inflation that must ensue unless the budget is balanced and some order brought out of the relief chaos.

It is a heartening thing that wheat, corn, oats, rye, cotton and other crops are back to normal. I have said many times in this column and will repeat it—when agriculture is prosperous the whole nation is prosperous. There are two bases on which all our economic superstructure rests and only two—mining and agriculture.

As is being generally pointed out, it is realized farm purchasing power will be enhanced by the good crops. Optimistic business men even predict that trade may rise higher this fall than the 1929 level.

It is easy enough to see that the railroads and steamship companies will have more freight to carry, thus contributing to the welfare of the nation as a whole. Once getting their hands on the "wherewithal" the farmers are bound to buy farm implements, automobiles, furniture, pianos, radios and other necessities or luxuries, whatever your point of view happens to be.

How often do we stop to consider the large part played by women in our twentieth century scheme of social organization? A statistician recently said that the females of the species control a larger proportion of the wealth of this country than that of any political entity known to history. Here are a few figures:

Women own 65 per cent of all the savings accounts, 48 per cent of the stock of railroad companies, 44 per cent of the stock of public utility corporations, 40 per cent of all the real estate and are beneficiaries of 80 per cent of the life insurance policies.

Almost a matriarchy, forsooth, and some may even say, alack.

Native Daughters Honor Members With August Birthdays

After meeting of August 18, El Carmelo Parlor honored its members who celebrated the anniversary of their natal day in August.

Sister Alice M. Oldham and Louise Eliassen were the only August born members present, but a large group was out to join them in partaking of their birthday cakes and other good "eats" provided by an active committee under the joint chairmanship of Margaretha Schade, Christine Hume and Minnie Barner.

President Lucille Young was chosen to represent the parlor as a Fiesta hostess during the San Mateo County Products and Florad Fiesta to be held at Bay Meadows, September 23 to 26.

The parlor has several social events scheduled for the near future, among which is initiation and observance of Pioneer Day and California's Birthday at the first meeting in September, and Constitution Day on the second meeting night which falls this year on September 17.

Also a committee consisting of Sisters Hattie Kelly, Margaret Callan Steele and Elsie Clemens is formulating plans for the parlor's annual whist game to be given October 6, for the benefit of the Homeless Children ward, a project of the Order which provides for the homeless child regardless of race, creed or fraternal affiliations of parents, thus making this work of interest to every citizen of our community.

V. F. W. Auxiliary Institutes New Club

On Thursday of last week members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliaries of San Mateo County met at the Theater Social Hall in Daly City and formed a new "Cootiette Club" to be known as Gold Bugs No. 32.

After the institution of the club by Past Grand Chief Grayback Margaret Hubbard of San Francisco, the officers were duly installed and initiated. The initiation team was from Circus Bees No. 23, who put on the stunts for the new members.

Sister Myna Hazelhurst of Old Glory Auxiliary was installed as Chief Grayback of the Gold Bugs and with her corps of officers all are looking forward to a good year for this social and fun branch of the Ladies Auxiliary.

We were happy to welcome so many Cootiettes from San Francisco and East Bay Clubs.

After an evening of hilarity the committee served delicious refreshments.

The charter will be open for sixty days, so that other V. F. W. members from San Mateo County may also be enrolled as charter members.

HAND THAT RULES

GUDRUN MILLER

The hand that rules the world is an iron hand so far as friend husband is concerned in the current play "Power" at the Alcazar Theater in San Francisco. Content with letting things run as they are hubby (Leon Forbes) is loathe to do anything about straightening things out until the bills come in. Then he registers a strong kick.

Playing the part of the city wife, Gudrun Miller, whose portrait appears above, applies the rowels and directs her better (or lesser) half on a course that results in stirring up interest for him—and the audience. Miss Miller's appearance, brief though it is, adds much to the comedy of the scene.

"Power" presents the story of electricity in nineteen fast moving scenes, each of which carries the punch of a last minute news bulletin in a daily paper. The play is scheduled for a wind-up in the very near future after having done capacity business since the opening. It will be followed by a Eugene O'Neill drama, "Beyond The Horizon."

Both plays are Federal Theater productions.

OBSERVATION OF VARIOUS THINGS IN OUR CAPITAL

Relief For Problem Of Washington Housing Shortage Soon To Be Consummated

(By Hart Goodrich)

If you were paying from $30 to $50 per month for a crowded, old, hot-in-summer, cold-in-winter apartment, how would you like to move into a new, attractive, cool home at about $26 to $46 a month which includes your gas, electricity and water. That is what is happening to 1000 lucky families who will occupy the first units of Greenbelt, Maryland. Eventually 3000 families will live here.

There is an acute housing shortage in Washington which has increased rents to one-third above the national average.

This community has been developed by the Resettlement Administration just five miles from Washington for families with incomes from $1200 to $2000 per year.

This is not a slum clearance project and will not affect those who can afford to pay more rent, but is designed for the "in-between" families.

The town will have its own stores, schools, community buildings, post office, utilities, theater and recreational area which includes a 25-acre "made" lake. Space has been alloted outside the town for gardens, giving those residents who desire it the opportunity to increase their real income by subsistence gardening.

Considerable time and money had to be expended in planning Greenbelt, since there were no precednts to follow. However, now the pattern is set and similar communities could be built for considerably less.

When completed this housing project will have furnished labor to some 5000 workmen on the relief rolls, while creating a real asset to the nation; it will relieve somewhat the housing shortage in Washington, where rents are abnormally high; it will demonstrate how city planning can reduce traffic hazards and accidents; it will give low-income families an opportunity to supplement their incomes through the use of allotment gardens; it will be a demonstration of the possibilities of combining city and country life.

Greenbelt is another project to be added to the long list of this administration's practical plans to improve yours and mine, and Mr. and Mrs. American Citizen's standard of living and pleasure in living.

BIRD VERSUS WORM

Be early, if you are the bird;
There's lots of wisdom in it.
But if you chance to be the worm—
Better wait a minute!

AND IT FINALLY CAME TO PASS LAST SUNDAY

Having Sprouted More Wings, The Married Eagles Outplay The Single Eagles In Ball Game

The Eagles Married Men vs. Single men baseball game at Jefferson Union High School diamond, last Sunday, was a riot.

The fans attending witnessed all kinds of baseball. Too much strategy cost the single men the game, as a fifth inning rally by the married men put the skids under their younger and less experienced opponents.

If Manager Linden can keep his bunch of stars together it looks bad for Harold White's boys. What if Mendelson should join the married boys by next year. What a pitcher!

The married men feel that the single boys have the makings of a great team, but the fault seems to be in not knowing what position they can play best. Brotherly love is all that the married men had in mind when they tried to get the single boys to play soft ball. That the latter were not hurt in that fifth inning barrage of base hits was miraculous.

Umpires G. Perade, Bogart and Dan Gray, handled the game with great skill. Gray especially stood out in his work.

EXPERT PLEADS FOR RACING RECIPROCITY

By J. W. MARCHBANK

"Charley" Brossman makes a suggestion in The Thoroughbred Record that is worth some thought. It is both sporting and practical. The veteran trainer of the great mare Imp makes a plea that a systematic attempt be made to introduce our thoroughbred horses into South American countries. The thing should not be done in a haphazard manner, but gone about exhaustively after comprehensive plans have been made.

There was a wave of agitation against racing along about 1910 and with the breaking up of blood horse nurseries in the United States many stallions and broodmares were shipped to nations below the equator. That the people of the Argentine, Chile, and other South American countries have made good use of the importations—not only from this country, but from England and Ireland—has recently been demonstrated by the performances of Caballero II and Sahri II on Eastern courses. It will be recalled Caballero II was second to Seabiscuit at Suffolk Downs.

Mr. Brossman pertinently points out that American horsemen believe they have the best thoroughbred horses in the world, so why not let the South American countries know all about them.

He suggests the federal government assist in building up an important export trade in the way of thoroughbreds to the advantage of both the exporters and the government.

It may be there is something, too, in the notion that more friendly relations could be established between the United States and South America through the medium of sport. Realistically it does not appear to be a far-fetched idea for responsible parties to send high-class gallopers to South America to demonstrate what the present-day runners of the United States can do in competition.

Steady Growth In Motor Car Travel

Comment was made this week by the manager of the Mission Auto Company, Chrysler-Plymouth dealer here, that an unusually large volume of motor car travel is indicated for 1937.

An all time record was set for automobile travel in 1935. In 1936 this mark was exceeded by a substantial amount and 1937 promises to top even the new peak of 1936. This estimate was based on the fact that this year a far greater percentage of sales has been made of touring sedans than ever before.

"Prospective purchasers who come into our showrooms," the manager stated, "seem particularly interested in the luggage carrying facilities of our products. Chrysler body designers have been unusually conscious of this trend and have provided exceptionally commodious trunks in both Chrysler and Plymouth."

CONGRESSMAN TO BE HOME ON SATURDAY

He will remain in the district, according to his plans, until the next Congress convenes, unless President Roosevelt calls an extra session.

Boy Breaks Arm In Jumping From Horse

The last day of the summer vacation proved to be a jinxs for Richard Bolger, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Bolger of Risel street, when he jumped off of a horse he was riding in Bayshore City and broke his right arm. Dogs from the ranch frightened the horse, which ran away.

Richard, fearing that the animal would run over a nearby steep bank, decided to jump. As he did so his foot caught in the stirrup and he was dragged some distance, receiving painful body bruises. When he was finally released he landed with all his weight on his right hand, breaking the ulnar bone just above the wrist.

Serves In Hospital, Also Catches Fish

Dr. Willis Cline of Mission street recently returned from Kogging, on the Kirchak River in Alaska, where he was in charge of the hospital serving that section.

During his stay in the north country he had the pleasure of flying over Lake Illianna, the largest lake in the interior of Alaska, and also over Lake Clark, to the north. During the latter trip he saw a moose for the first time in his life as well as many other species of wild life native of Alaska. The high light of the trip was the flight over "The Valley of Ten Thousand Smokes," which has been designated by the United States government as a National Monument.

Doc says he caught plenty of red salmon while in the north, which he plans to use at some future date for a big feed in the Eagles lodge rooms.

BADEN KENNEL CLUB TO CLOSE SATURDAY EVE

The curtain rings down Saturday night, August 28, on the 1937 greyhound racing season at Baden Kennel club.

High in attendance, popular for its formful events and nationally renowned for innovations offered this meeting, the Baden track closes with the richest running in history, a $1,500 added Derby, open to greyhounds of all ages.

With all the champions, including the famous "Gold Dust Twins," Andrew's Pride and Mike Andrew of P. J. Olmo's superb kennel, entered, the Derby Saturday attracts unusual attention because it is being raced over the seven-sixteenths mile marathon course.

In writing the names of Baden's champion dogs for the season, three head the list. They are Andrew's Pride, Mike Andrew and Doctor Vance. A novice, Plum Shot, owned by Buck Jones, ranks with them because of annexing the California Derby for state-bred two year olds last week, and for the remarkable manner in which the green pup outfooted more experienced candidates for the rich stake. Caperton Boy, Miss Traffic Court, Sergeant Troy, Dreamy Dick, Big Machine, Vice Versa and a host of others too numerous to name stand out, as do the hurdlers.

Baden's new safety hurdles, which have set the style for other American tracks, resulted in developing a higher calibre of jumper, and Baden is blessed with Sailor Joe, the Elfrinks, Harry and Jerry, Dutch Reuther, Brandy Flask, Hope's Goer, Doctor Grey and other skilled jumping dogs.

TIRE PATCH

Blow-out patches should be removed and permanent repairs made to a damaged tire as soon as possible, according to the Emergency Road Service of the California State Automobile Association. Such patches have a tendency to throw both tire and wheel out of balance and also cause chafing which eventually results in permanent damage.
